Filters

Certain options have filter capabilities. Filters allow the user to choose contacts that will be the only recognized notification for a specific option.

All Button

ALL

An "All" button will act as if the filter is off and all incoming notifications will be allowed through.

Select Button

SELECT

The "select" button opens a list of available filter choices. Different options filters will pull from different lists associated with the smartphone.

- Phone, FaceTime, and Messages filters will pull from the users contact list.

Note: Up to 32 filters may be applied on Apple devices. FaceTime only available on Apple devices.

- Mail filters for Apple pull from the users contact that have email accounts.
- Gmail filters for Android pull from the users email accounts directly.
- Facebook, Facebook Messenger, and Twitter filters pull from associated accounts.

Once filter options are available, tapping on the contact will select that contact as a chosen filter by the representation of a check mark.

Check Mark Button

Selecting and deselecting the check mark button enables and disables the whole list of contacts at one time.

- When the check mark is tapped and becomes a light blue color, the entire list of contacts will be chosen and be considered filtered items.
- When the check mark is tapped and becomes a light gray color, the entire list of contacts will be deselected.

Note: Enabling all contacts will act the same as selecting the "All" button. Deselecting all contacts will be the same as turning off the notification.

Uploading information

Certain options will need to be uploaded to the watch in order for the notification options to apply.

- Tapping the upload icon will bring up a loading circle. Once complete, the app will return to previous options.

Note: Not uploading information will cause the watch to remain at the state in memory.
